Step 4 – Membership Benefits

DocEHRtalk.org’s membership benefits are endless. The information and connections on this site will help you make better decisions, plan for smoother transitions, and learn ways to maximize your return on innovation.

There are two membership types, community and clinical. A community membership grants you access to the weekly digest and monthly e-updates (which are otherwise not available) and allows you to take advantage of the many health IT resources DocEHRtalk.org has to offer. As a clinical member, you have exclusive access to ask Questions, get Answers and to participate in the Messageboard discussions to gain insight on health IT issues or to share your own perspective. To become a clinical member you must be a physician or an active office manager.

Let DocEHRtalk.org be your peer-to-peer EHR resource center for finding the answers you need.
